

Minor in Cultural Heritage and Memory

Department of Anthropology, School of Social Sciences, Queens College

UPDATED 15 MAY 2022

Many students in Anthropology are interested in cultural heritage, museums, and how people make sense of and recall the past. The Minor in Cultural Heritage and Memory is designed for students who are interested in the ways the past is remembered and activated in the present, sometimes as a mechanism to construct narratives and make political or legal claims about community and/or national identities. The Minor also examines culturally shaped forms of remembering and commemoration. The Minor in Cultural Heritage and Memory is ideal for students interested in law and policy, development, museum studies, archives, cultural preservation, material culture studies, and the arts. The courses in the Minor will provide training for students interested in how the past is recalled and represented as well as the ethical dilemmas of commemoration.

The Minor in Cultural Heritage & Memory consists of consists of six courses totaling 18 credits: three required courses designed to give students a foundation in anthropological approaches to the past, heritage, commemoration, and memory and three additional electives that explore cultural diversity. The full list of Anthropology courses with descriptions can be found on the Anthropology Department website:

https://qcpages.qc.cuny.edu/ANTHRO/Web_Pages/Courses.html

The Minor in Cultural Heritage and Memory can be easily combined with Majors in other departments. If combined with a Major in Anthropology, four of the six courses (12 of the 18 credits) can overlap between the Major and the Minor and only 2 extra courses (6 extra credits) are required.
